

David E. Crawford Joins Senniger Powers as a Partner in the Mechanical Practice Group

David returns after five years with a leading national general practice firm. He is currently the President-Elect of the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis. "I'm thrilled to have the opportunity to return to Senniger Powers. The firm practices IP law at a very high technical level for discerning clients, yet has fun while doing it," said Crawford. "In the years I was absent, the firm made dramatic improvements to many aspects of its practice from developing advanced training for associates to implementing a paperless office. The practice was thriving when I left, and now is stronger than it ever has been."

The mechanical practice group is also bolstered by the addition of Jamaal R. Jordan, while Senniger's patent and trademark litigation practice adds Richard L. Brophy. Jordan graduated from the University of Wisconsin Law School in May 2007 and has an undergraduate degree in Biomedical Engineering (Biomechanics) from Marquette University. Brophy comes to Senniger Powers with five years of experience as an engineer at Boeing. He graduated from Saint Louis University School of Law in May 2007 and has an undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois in Aerospace Engineering.

See the following Intellectual Property Today link for more details on these new attorneys:
<http://www.iptoday.com/news-article.asp?id=1156&type=misc>.